Dear Friends,

The beginning of a new academic year serves as a powerful reset point, though students experience it in different ways. For schools, this period marks a carefully planned season of renewal. It is the time to introduce updated curriculum, welcome new faculty members and set institutional goals that shape the culture for the year ahead. For students, the occasion feels more personal and social. It brings the excitement of the first day, the joy of new beginnings and the renewal of friendships.

Together, these perspectives create a dynamic environment. Schools celebrate their progress and purpose, while students celebrate their evolving identities. The school campus becomes more than just a physical space as it transforms into a vibrant hub of ideas, relationships and opportunities. The energy of renewal drives both institutional growth and individual discovery, reminding us that education is not only about shaping futures.

As educators, we carry the responsibility to cultivate resilience, curiosity and empathy in our students. It is a reminder that education is both a personal journey and a collective mission, where every student and teacher contributes to build and reframe the statistics of growth and possibility.

- 6-8 fresh mint leaves(washed)
- 1 glass water (chilled/normal)
- Ice cubes

Method

- Blend the strawberries with lemon juice and honey until smooth.
- Add mint leaves and lightly crush them to induce flavour.
- Pour the strawberry mix into a glass, add chilled water or soda water.
- Stir well, add ice cubes and serve immediately.

Remember, healthy choices today create stronger and brighter tomorrows.

FAMOUS PERSONALITY BORN IN APRIL

Born On: 24th April, 1973

Place of Birth: Mumbai, Maharashtra, India

Sachin Tendulkar, widely revered as the 'God of Cricket' is a former Indian international cricketer and one of the greatest batsmen in the history of the sport. Over a legendary career spanning 24 years (1989-2013), he became the highest run scorer in international cricket and the only player to record 100 international centuries. His passion for cricket began in childhood, when he practiced for hours in the streets of Mumbai under the guidance of his coach, Ramakant Achrekar.

Throughout his career, Tendulkar receives numerous awards and honours, including the Bharat Ratna in 2014, making him the first sportsman to receive India's highest civilian award. Even after retiring in 2013, he has remained deeply connected to the game, serving as a mentor for the Mumbai Indians in the IPL and captaining veteran leagues such as the International Masters League (IML). His autobiography 'Playing It My Way', details his life and discipline, which continue to inspire millions. Through the Sachin Tendulkar Foundation, he also supports healthcare and education for underprivileged children across India.

Tendulkar taught the youth that failure is a natural part of any journey. His ability to reinvent his batting style after injuries demonstrated how to adapt when physical or external circumstances change.

FACTS ABOUT SOME LESSER-KNOWN FESTIVALS OF INDIA

Bohag Bihu, also known as Rongali Bihu, is the most vibrant and widely celebrated festival of Assam. It marks the Assamese New Year and the arrival of spring. People observe it in mid-April, coinciding with the harvest season. Bohag Bihu unites communities, symbolising renewal and the rhythm of agricultural life.

The festival celebrates the sowing season, when farmers prepare their fields for cultivation and express gratitude for nature's abundance. It also serves as a time for reconciliation, as people mend relationships and begin the year with positivity and harmony.

Bohag Bihu is more than just a harvest festival— it celebrates life, community and cultural identity. Through its rituals, music and traditions, it reflects the spirit of Assamese society and its close connection with nature. The festival thrives as a symbol of unity and joy, carrying Assam's rich heritage into the future.

TIP OF THE MONTH

Start the new academic year by letting students help set the classroom rules, which gives them a sense of ownership. Use 'learning by doing' activities, such as a quick team-building challenge, to excite them and encourage participation. Inspire them to write a personal goal, which helps them stay focused on their growth throughout the year.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

The best way to predict your future is to create it.
